

CRW800 ROWER

Folds for easy storage

CRW800 Rower – High-Performance Rowing, Built to Last

Engineered for light commercial environments, the CRW800 Rower delivers a powerful combination of performance, durability, and user-centric design. Whether outfitting a corporate wellness room, hotel fitness centre, school training facility, or community recreation space, this rower hits the mark with full-body training, intuitive operation, and low-maintenance reliability.

The 19.5" (49.5 cm) seat height offers easy on-off access, while the foldable frame ensures convenient vertical storage. Users of all levels benefit from smooth, consistent resistance powered by a 7.7 lb (3.5 kg) flywheel and a hybrid air/magnetic resistance system—offering 16 adjustable levels of progressive intensity. Remote handle controls allow users to change resistance without interrupting their rhythm, keeping workouts fluid and focused.

The CRW800 features 10 pre-set programs plus 1 custom option, giving users guided variety or the freedom to train their way. Adjustable flex pedals, an ergonomically contoured seat, and a solid steel and aluminum frame with a lifetime warranty ensure comfort, stability, and long-term performance.

A self-generating power system eliminates the need for an outlet, offering plug-free versatility for placement anywhere on the floor.
